Free Webinar on Cutting Leachate Disposal Costs -
March 26, 2019 @ 11:00AM Central Time

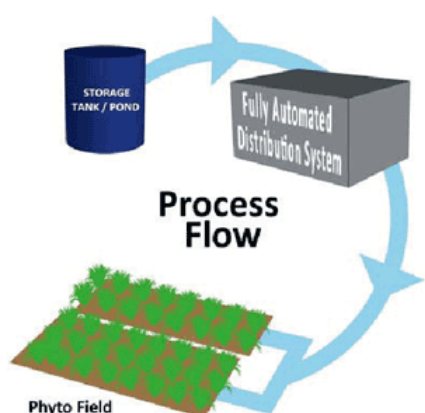

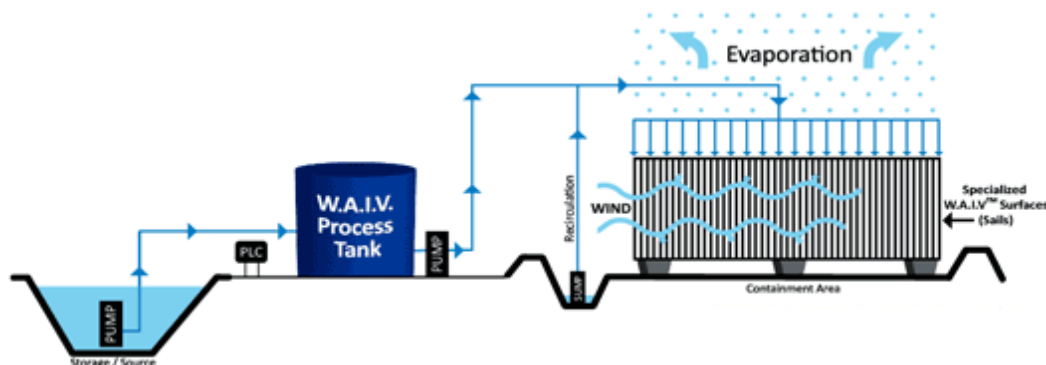

Conference Schedule

If you are currently paying more than you'd like for leachate disposal, I'd like to share with you a couple of newer disposal options which can cut your costs by 25-50% or more and reduce your carbon footprint. We've partnered with a specialized firm to provide these technologies which are called WAIV™ and Phyto-Utilization™.

WAIV™

WAIV is newer evaporative technology, developed in the desalination industry and adapted for solid waste, which does not spray anything into the air and is not thermally based. The unique approach is successful because it creates a very large, wetted evaporative surface area in a small footprint and wind naturally passing through results in intensified evaporation. The patented technology is modular and can be sized to fit many sites.

Phyto-Utilization™

The second technology is a unique approach that has already disposed 100+ million gallon of leachate and saved millions of dollars in the US and Mexico. It is unique approach that uses specialized plants with a high water demand and high tolerance to harsh conditions to actually consume leachate. The high evapo-transpiration capacity and demand for nutrients (contaminants) actually turns leachate into a resource. The result is leachate disposed on site.

Together these "Natural Systems" strategically leverage the abilities of nature to solve practical problems, resulting in millions of dollars in savings, a reduced carbon footprint, reduced liability, and a great PR story to share with the community. There is no cost for your site to be evaluated, and in many cases, a system can be installed at no capital cost.

We would like to invite you to a free webinar on options to save you cost on your leachate disposal. The webinar is March 26, 2019 at 11:00 Central I.

If you would like a free evaluation of your site or simply have questions on how to register, please don't hesitate to reach us at 763-463-9838 or tward@epgco.com.
